

Dear Guild Members,

Thank you to everyone who has already submitted artwork for our upcoming Rooted in Observation: Art Inspired by the Living World exhibition at the Bloomingdale Museum.

Interestingly, most submissions arrived during the last couple of days. Since we still have both time and gallery space available, we'd love to invite you to submit additional artwork if you have more pieces you'd like to exhibit.

If you have another finished work (or two!) that you'd like to share, please use the same submission form to add your additional entries this week.

We would be delighted to showcase even more of the wonderful work created by our Guild members and make this exhibition as rich and diverse as possible.

Thank you, and we look forward to seeing your additional submissions!

Warmly,

Irena Gintilas
